

Our Mission

What is ICPMA?

ICPMA is a unique worldwide non-profit organisation aiming to promote the delivery of best practice in construction project management throughout its professional membership and also those it does business with.

What is the ICPMA Mission Statement?

ICPMA seeks to create tangible practical and intellectual benefits for its members by initiating and networking better ways of managing construction projects for clients and the whole professional delivery team. ICPMA also seeks to promote research and education to help to spread best practice on the international stage and to those embarking on a career in construction project management.

How does ICPMA work?

ICPMA is run by dedicated volunteers who are passionate about improving our cities, infrastructure and environment in ways that are more effective, dynamic, and that safeguard our planet. Each member pays a nominal fee, but is encouraged to contribute to the ICPMA by actively providing current news, papers on new initiatives, or speaking at conferences and seminars.

Who can join ICPMA?

ICPMA membership is open to practitioners and academics in the fields of construction, project management, client representation, design and engineering, technical and environmental study, architecture and planning, surveying and cost evaluation.

Why join ICPMA?

To become part of an international platform of like-minded people, passionate about the work they do, within a friendly supportive organisation of industry leaders. All members of ICPMA appreciate the role they have in grasping the potential to improve future lives - both in the work they do, and the way that they share knowledge with younger generations.
