Personnel mentoring and coaching

I offer business advice and guidance to many organisations, helping them to maximise potential; facilitate delivery; create the right profile for stakeholders; and resolve any problems that arise. I am an expert witness in my specialist field. I coach personnel to fulfil their potential. I am also a qualified freelance journalist.

I combine business planning and project delivery skills, gained over a thirty-five year career, with a human touch. I have over nineteen years experience at the level of Managing Director or above.
